and how could these be removed ? Why should legal language be taught to students of law in India ?

Unit-IV

4. Attempt a precis of the given passage in about 1/3 of its length and also suggest a suitable title : 14

Law is harmful for numerous reasons. In the first place, once the process of law making has begun, it goes on endlessly. It is an attempt to make a generalization fit for a concrete case, and this, by the nature of the case, is bound to prove impossible, for every case should have a rule to itself ; hence laws have constantly to be remade or amended since the rigid classifications are always breaking down. Laws in their very nature "pretend to foretell events", because they claim a finality valid for all future circumstances. Therefore they tend to stagnate and like every form of creed, become hindrance to progress by attempting to define a single standard of action and belief. Moreover, laws are uncertain. Their volume is vast, unmanageable and contradictory; they can be quoted on both sides of case, nobody in any given instance can possibly know what the result of a law suit is going to be ; so that recourse to legal process is just a gamble.

Law is only necessitated by, and relative to, the exercise of political force. It is evil, as all use of force is evil since it involves another standard than the individual's free and unfettered Judgement; and it will perish when the necessity for such force ceases. (220 words)

or

Translate the following passage into Hindi :

The most important thing is that we should have freedom of thought. This is into as easy as it sounds, for everyone likes to have this freedom for himself but is not ready to give it to others when they express different opinions. This is particularly the case when differences of opinions arise on such important matters as religion and politics. But if we refuse to let other people hold their opinion on these matters and especially if we try to force them to accept our own, progress is impossible. If every one went on thinking the same thing as his ancestors thought progress would come to an end because, as the Buddha said, "What a man thinks, he becomes".

O Blithe Newcomers I have heard,

I hear thee and rejoice.

O Cuckoo! Shall I call thee Bird.

Or but a wandering Voice.

While I am lying on the grass
