It is stated that following twominor research projects are ongoing under the CRSIS&EC:-

Sr.	Title of minor research Project	Name of Project's	w.e.f.
	Title of fillior research Project	•	w.e.i.
No.		Investigator	22.06.2024
1.	Perception of Students about Important Causes	Dr. Aarti	23.06.2021 of Students' Unrest: A Study of Haryana	Project Director	to University Campuses.	Assistant Professor,	22.06.2023
	Students' unrest in universities is a worldwide	IMSAR, M.D. University, phenomenon. There is hardly a country that has	Rohtak been free from it. Common factors responsible for students' unrest are managerial, social, academic, environmental, personal psychological and political issues. Focus of the study is to analyze the factors promoting the Students' unrest and agitation in the campuses of Haryana universities, to study the relationship of students' unrest with
	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·
	their personality types- A&B and self efficacy of the students and to identify the alternative strategies to manage students' unrest. An exploratory cum descriptive research design will be used for the study.
2.	Positive Youth Development: A Catalyst for	Dr. Deepti Hooda	09.07.2021
	Social-Economic Change and Holistic Wellness.	(Project Director)	to Youth are resource and agents of social and	Associate Professor,	08.07.2023 community change. Taping this potent resource	Department of by empowering youth through positive youth	Psychology, development can help in bringing desired social	M.D. University, Rohtak and economic change in any community. The	, present research aims to assess the Five Cs of positive youth development (PYD), and explore their relationship with youth's flourishing, happiness, sense of community and civic engagement. The present study also attempts to understand the perception and attitude of youth towards social and economic change.
3.	An Analytical Study on Skill Development	Dr. Jitender Kumar	09.07.2021
	Schemes for the Youth of Rural Areas in Haryana.	(Project Director)	to Skill development is the process to narrow the	Assistant Professor,	08.07.2023 gap between the existing skill and the skills	IMSAR, M.D. University,] required to perform some particular tasks.	Rohtak Majority of Youth resides in Rural Areas specifically in Haryana State, in spite of getting formal education, it is observed that the youth is not employable considering the technological growth and global environment.
	The government has started many programmes or schemes to make this rural youth employable according to the present scenario.
	The present study will try to measure the existing status of schemes, awareness level of youth about these schemes implemented by the  	your about these selicines implemented by the government. This study will also try to find out the various problems faced by the rural youth of Haryana in taking advantage of these type of various schemes launched by Haryana Government.

			1
4	Women Micro-Entrepreneurs in Haryana:	Dr. Nidhi	9.08.2021 to Training Need Analysis & Curriculum Framework	(Project Director)	08.08.2023
	for Soft Skills	Assistant Professor,
	Micro-Entrepreneurship is being considered as	MDUCPAS, Gurugram.
	the one of the prominent ways of economic development, employment generation and income generation in the world. It shares the load of job creation, encourages the self-sufficiency with the minimal resources. Worldwide it has been recognized that micro-entrepreneurship is a significant tool for ensuring women empowerment as it leads towards financial independence of women. In Haryana, it is very difficult for women to think about to established their own start-up. The proposed study will make an attempt to examine the factors influencing the professional competencies of women micro-_	entrepreneurs in Haryana.	D C · N II	00.07.2024
5	Development of Rural Development Index for	Dr. Sanjay Nandal,	08.07.2021 reduction of monetary poverty: A Study of	Associate Professor,	to Haryana	IMSAR, Maharshi	07.07.2023
	Importance given to development of rural	Dayanand University, areas through reduction of poverty and	Rohtak, economic wellbeing of the people by the govt.	+91-9813233465;
	of Haryana in the budget 2021-22 and	sanjaynandal.imsar@m multifunctionality of agriculture and its	durohtak.ac.in positive externalities can be the leverage factor to a customable rural development. Due to to a sustainable rural development. Due to which it becomes crucial to identify the which it becomes crucial to identify the practical measurement tool or index to which it becomes crucial to identify the practical measurement tool or index to measure the development contributed by the
	which it becomes crucial to identify the practical measurement tool or index to measure the development contributed by the spending's of government on various public
	which it becomes crucial to identify the practical measurement tool or index to measure the development contributed by the spending's of government on various public issues. Although there are number of indices
	which it becomes crucial to identify the practical measurement tool or index to measure the development contributed by the spending's of government on various public issues. Although there are number of indices measuring the level of development but none
	which it becomes crucial to identify the practical measurement tool or index to measure the development contributed by the spending's of government on various public issues. Although there are number of indices measuring the level of development but none of them is specifically designed for measuring
	which it becomes crucial to identify the practical measurement tool or index to measure the development contributed by the spending's of government on various public issues. Although there are number of indices measuring the level of development but none of them is specifically designed for measuring the development of rural areas. This lack of
	which it becomes crucial to identify the practical measurement tool or index to measure the development contributed by the spending's of government on various public issues. Although there are number of indices measuring the level of development but none of them is specifically designed for measuring the development of rural areas. This lack of rural development measures hampers the
	which it becomes crucial to identify the practical measurement tool or index to measure the development contributed by the spending's of government on various public issues. Although there are number of indices measuring the level of development but none of them is specifically designed for measuring the development of rural areas. This lack of rural development measures hampers the process of assessing the impact of public
	which it becomes crucial to identify the practical measurement tool or index to measure the development contributed by the spending's of government on various public issues. Although there are number of indices measuring the level of development but none of them is specifically designed for measuring the development of rural areas. This lack of rural development measures hampers the process of assessing the impact of public policies applied in a particular territory, or, in
	which it becomes crucial to identify the practical measurement tool or index to measure the development contributed by the spending's of government on various public issues. Although there are number of indices measuring the level of development but none of them is specifically designed for measuring the development of rural areas. This lack of rural development measures hampers the process of assessing the impact of public
	which it becomes crucial to identify the practical measurement tool or index to measure the development contributed by the spending's of government on various public issues. Although there are number of indices measuring the level of development but none of them is specifically designed for measuring the development of rural areas. This lack of rural development measures hampers the process of assessing the impact of public policies applied in a particular territory, or, in
	which it becomes crucial to identify the practical measurement tool or index to measure the development contributed by the spending's of government on various public issues. Although there are number of indices measuring the level of development but none of them is specifically designed for measuring the development of rural areas. This lack of rural development measures hampers the process of assessing the impact of public policies applied in a particular territory, or, in an ex-ante perspective, the identification of the areas where the use of public funds would be
	which it becomes crucial to identify the practical measurement tool or index to measure the development contributed by the spending's of government on various public issues. Although there are number of indices measuring the level of development but none of them is specifically designed for measuring the development of rural areas. This lack of rural development measures hampers the process of assessing the impact of public policies applied in a particular territory, or, in an ex-ante perspective, the identification of the		